For the past 6 years we have been celebrating WTD at L'Hospitalet de Llobregat, Barcelona. Each year we find a theatrical and symbolic place to perform and read the WTD Manifesto. This year we celebrate also the centenary of the birth of Joan Brossa, Catalan visual artist and playwright. At 18,30 pm we will depart from Plàudite Teatre - Performing Arts School, with a theatrical parade (students, families, friends, neighbors, and so on), all together accompanied with a musical band (New Orleans style called Xarangarin), until we reach the Joan Brossa's "Visual Poem sculpture". Then, we will read Carlos Celdrán's WTD 2019 Message, and a few actors and actresses will perform a theatrical piece. A couple of acrobats will jump between Joan Brossa's sculpture letters to interact with his "Visual Poem" that plays with the letters of the Alphabet and the name of the city: Hospitalet. We finish back at our Performing Arts Centre with a theatrical, acrobatic and musical parade.
