

The video that Dragana Tripković would like to send as a message for the prestigious jubilee World Theater Day 60th Anniversary Celebration, is part of the play "The Taming of the Shrew", one of the greatest playwrights of all time William Shakespeare, which she worked on last at the Podgorica City Theater, Montenegro. It is a brilliant comedy in which the status of women in modern society is re-examined through the well-known all-time Shakespearean situations. The universality of this work as well as the possibility of interpretation it provides us in this time are one of the significant manifestations of respect for theater and its role in society today.